The Daily Oregonian.

THURSDAY MORNING, NOV. 16, 1876.

WOULD THE DEMOCRACY PAY THE SOUTHERN CLAIMS?

Throughout the recent political campaign, the Republicans pressed upon the consideration of voters the danger of the payment of Southern claims for property destroyed during the war. It was urged by the Republican orators and papers, with few exceptions, that the election of Tilden would be followed by a movement all along the Democratic line for the payment of these claims, which have been estimated at two and a quarter billions of dollars. No doubt this argument had as much influence as any other in determining the action of voters in the North, especially among men of property. It was an argument that touched the pocket nerve, which is the most sensitive of all the nerves of the human frame.

That was sensible of the danger with which this question was fraught, and with a promptness that is truly remarkable, when it is remembered how long it took him to find out what he had said in response to the St. Louis nomination, and how he has never yet made known what answer he should make to the question of fraud in connection with his income returns. He placed himself clearly and unequivocally on the record that the payment of these claims, no matter to the length of pledging himself, or to veto all laws that might be passed by Congress during his term, for their payment. But Mr. Tilden told us, in so many words, that the pledges of candidates are to be regarded at little value, since they are made to be broken, and will be repudiated when they can be. That opinion is, we believe, very unjust to the majority of men who, happening sometimes to be nominated for office, feel bound in honor to give expression, before the people, to their views of what would be the best course for them to pursue in case they are successful; but it is not unjust to place the same estimate upon pledges which he says ought to be held on the pledges of all candidates. It is not unjust to him to assume that his views in regard to the Southern claims were made for election purposes, and should be held for naught in any emergency that may arise hereafter, in case he is President.

Such is the letter of Tilden, then, from which we may be expected of him and his party, if they obtain control of both Houses of Congress, which it is possible they may obtain the next four years, during which time the unscrupulous partisan executive will have the responsibility of the Government. If the Southern Democrats have their way, the policy will be accordingly. The South will be a unit in the Democratic party, and the unwritten law of the party, that the caucus must bind its members. The South, in the convenience of the party, is the decision of the party, and to disregard the ukase coming down upon the people of excommunication.

The people themselves have spoken in unmistakable and emphatic terms. Tilden's letter on the subject of right to settle it that the claims are not in any event to be paid, every Southern State, its bodies and the Democratic politicians have endorsed their adhesion to the Governors of States, U. S. Senators and candidates for Congressmen and candidates for State Senators, editors of Democratic papers—in fact all the influential classes in Southern States in expressing their approbation of the letter. A fair specimen of the views on the subject, from such papers as the following which was signed by the leading Democratic politicians of Georgia:

"We believe that it is now generally understood that the leaders and press of the Southern people expect that with the administration of the Government and the advent of the Democratic party to power, will ensure the payment of the claims for damages or damage to property suffered during the late war.

"In this connection we declare that the South have no such hope or expectation. Claims incurred in support of the rebellion, by participation, is barred by the fourteenth amendment of the Constitution of the United States. And all injuries to their property during the war, is prohibited by the laws and the decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States.

"We, therefore, have no hope or expectation of being reimbursed for either, and we denounce such charges as injurious and false. We look for prosperity and just government and equal rights under the Constitution."

Alexander H. Stephens, Walker, who was Secretary of War of the "Southern Confederacy" and Jefferson Davis, wrote:

"The Democracy of Alabama and the whole South owe Governor Tilden for his bold, manly and fearless letter on the rebel war claims a debt to stamp out forever the base Republican calumny that these claims would be recognized by the South or recognized by Governor Tilden should he be elected.

"The letter in tone and general scope were the expressions from nearly all the Southern States. We might fill columns with them and with the signatures of leading men attached. This, it would seem, should be a sufficient backing for Mr. Tilden to fall back upon in case he was pressed with these claims. But it is still outside the range of probability that these expressions were given in pursuance of a preconcerted arrangement with the great Tammany reformer, and are to be judged by the same rule as that which he lays down for determining the value of the pledges of himself and other candidates for office. It is a suggestive circumstance that in several instances, these documents emanating from localities separated by great distance, are identical in their phraseology, indicating a common origin, and that where they are not wholly identical, there are internal evidences of a common authorship, such as the recurring of exactly the same points in exactly the same order, etc. Arkansas Democracy, for example, endorses Tilden in precisely the same words as those above quoted from the Alabama Democrats. This is suggestive of the cunning hand of Samuel J. Tilden in them all.

We do not like to believe he had it all set up for these endorsements to follow his letter in quick succession, with a secret understanding that in the future they were to be considered by all parties merely as an electioneering dodge, to be forgotten along with his pledges; but surely there is room for suspicion.

THE UNITED STATES SENATE

The terms of twenty-seven U. S. Senators will expire on the 4th of March, 1877. There are, Democrats: Goldthwaite of Alabama, Saulsbury of Delaware, Norwood of Georgia, Stevenson of Kentucky, Ransom of North Carolina, Kelly of Oregon, English of Connecticut, Cooper of Tennessee, Johnston of Virginia, and Davis of West Virginia,—10. Republicans: Clayton of Arkansas, Logan of Illinois, Wright of Iowa, Harvey of Kansas, Blaine of Maine, Boutwell of Massachusetts, Ferry of Michigan, Windom of Minnesota, Alcorn of Mississippi, Hitchcock of Nebraska, Cragin of New Hampshire, Frelinghuysen of New Jersey, Anthony of Rhode Island, Robertson of South Carolina, West of Louisiana, and Howe of Wisconsin,—16. Independent: Hamilton of Texas,—1. The ten Democrats will all be succeeded by Democrats, some of their successors having been already elected, and the party having a certainty of electing the rest. Clayton and Hamilton, and possibly West and Robertson, will be succeeded by Democrats. If Louisiana replace West with a Democrat, the vacancy which has for some time existed in the Senatorial representation from that State will also be filled by a Democrat. Meanwhile, Colorado comes in with two Republican Senators. English, Democrat, of Connecticut, who is filling out an unexpired term, will be succeeded by a Republican.

On this count, and on the assumption that Booth of California and Christiancy of Michigan, Independents, will act with the Republicans on strictly political questions, the Senate will stand,—Republicans, 42; Democrats, 34. This is the lowest possible majority of the Republicans in the Senate for at least two years after the 4th of March next.

It is to be hoped, for the credit of the whole country, that the dispatches overdraw the threats of fraud by the Democrats. It is little to the credit of our institutions that leading representatives of a great party, occupying positions as governors of States, United States senators, &c., will openly talk of resorting to gross and palpable frauds in order to meet what they consider the danger of frauds in the count of the votes of South Carolina, Florida and Louisiana. We can not believe Governor Irwin of California will be so short-sighted as to attempt to carry out the programme assigned to him by the Democratic managers, or that he has ever authorized the statement with which he is credited in that connection. If he is foolish enough to undertake the task of annulling the decision of the people of the State of California, he is not the man he has the reputation of being. When frauds sufficient to change the result of the election are established before the proper tribunal for the investigation of the matter, it will be time enough for Governor Irwin to proclaim his intentions in the premises. If such frauds shall be established he will have the support of all true men in stamping out the frauds and their results, but until then, these loud declarations of his purposes can only do him injury and his party no possible good.

The postoffice lawyers of the Democratic party have come to the conclusion that Tilden can get into the Presidential chair on a technical objection to the competency of two Republican Electors, they being, when elected postmasters. People who get into the fold by the back way instead of entering through the door, were properly characterized eighteen hundred years ago, by higher authority than these postoffice lawyers, and that characterization has become a part of the moral law of the world. The attempt to elect a President by the puerile device of excluding these two votes, will surely fail, and as surely bring lifelong disgrace on those who make it. It was an oversight for the candidates not to resign their little postoffices before the election, and thus avoid the possibility of having the question raised; but the action of any State officers who withhold a certificate of election from these Electors, they having resigned their postoffices, will be a crime.

The utter frivolousness of the proceedings of the Spanish authorities in Cuba against a number of Catholic priests, as detailed in our dispatches this morning, illustrates the extent to which the human intellect can be dwarfed and degraded by religious superstition. Here are men whose duties and position would imply the possession of statesmanlike qualities persecuting and exiling the priests of their own church for not making certain prescribed allusions to the Spanish government in their worship! Neither statesmanship nor manhood can be expected in a country ruled by such superstition. Spain would be immeasurably better off to-day if all her priests had ceased to remember her in their devotions a hundred years ago.

And now come the sensation mongers and present the programme of Secretary Chadwick as to the case of Dr. Watts. He is to get himself enjoined by the supreme court from giving Watts a certificate of election, and then he is of course to yield to the superior authority of the court. It is a pretty safe guess that Secretary Chadwick has proposed no such programme to himself, for the reason, first, that he has too much at stake to engage in any such scheme to defraud the people of Oregon through a sham legal proceeding, and, second, that he is a lawyer and knows the supreme court of Oregon has no jurisdiction to entertain an application for an injunction.

The perturbations of the Democratic mind over the postoffices, have taken an unexpected turn within the last few days. Heretofore the trouble has been that the Republicans had the postoffices and the Democrats wanted them. Now, however, their delight is uncontrollable when they contemplate the fact that it is the Republicans and not themselves that have possession of those positions. We wish them joy in all the gains they get out of the postoffice question.

The national debt was reduced during the month of October $2,092,575 79. Reduction since June 30, 1876, $10,560,908 21.

THE TERRENCE QUINN CASE.

Yesterday the United States Grand Jury, now in session, had under investigation the case of Terrence Quinn which defendant was charged with having shot an Indian last summer near Klamath Reservation, during which an altercation from the effects of which he subsequently died After an investigation—full and complete—the grand jury returned not a true bill Mr Quinn was at once released from custody and his bondsmen exonerated The circumstances of the shooting of the Indian, are substantially and briefly as follows

On the 15th of last May, Mr Quinn left Colusa county California with about 1 200 head of mutton sheep His destination was the John Day country in Eastern Oregon A herder accompanied Mr Quinn who assisted in driving the sheep and likewise did the cooking Mr Quinn also had a team and wagon in which the provisions and camping outfit were conveyed As the weather was warm they traveled by slow marches and did not reach the Klamath Lake country until July One day after reaching the country included within the limits of the Indian reservation Mr Quinn and his herder were overtaken by two Indians, who were on horseback They volunteered their services and assisted in driving the sheep for some distance These Indians had a dog with them who worried the sheep very much by running among the band and scattering them The dog proved to be a great annoyance but at length Mr Quinn managed to get rid of the two Indians and the cur When Mr Quinn camped on the evening of that day these two Indians came up and demanded half a dollar each for the services they had rendered him in driving the sheep Quinn declined to pay them saying, that he had never asked them to work for him that their services were insolicited and that they had done more harm than good The Indians then got into the wagon and began to ransack the contents Quinn then told them to clear out and leave the camp Very reluctantly they went away, making threats that they would be revenged One of them soon came back accompanied by a young Indian named Sam May, who had the reputation of being a regular bully about the Reservation May was very abusive, and made many hostile demonstrations toward Quinn and the herder Among other things he began to beat the mules which were hobbled and feeding near the camp and tried to run them off He also tried to bully Quinn and the herder by making threats Quinn repeatedly told May to leave the camp, as he did not wish to have any trouble with him After bullying around for some time May and his comrade went away Early the next morning, while Quinn and the herder were making preparations to renew their journey, May came up and commenced the quarrel He was armed with a large butcher knife which he drew and began to brandish about, calling Quinn opprobrious epithets, and advancing toward him at the same time, Quinn told him to go away that he wanted to have no trouble with him He slowly retreated followed by the infuriated Indian, who seemed determined to have blood Finding that a fight could not be avoided, Quinn drew a small pocket pistol having only a single barrel, and cocked it still slowly retreating No sooner did May observe the weapon than he made a lunge forward, intending to drive the knife through Quinn Just as May sprang forward the pistol was discharged partially by accident as Quinn says, as in stepping back one of his feet caught and in the excitement his finger touched the trigger The ball took effect in the side of the head just back of the ear, severing a small artery From the effects of this wound May died 22 days afterward, After shooting the Indian, Quinn mounted one of his mules rode directly to Fort Klamath and surrendered himself into the hands of the authorities He was committed on the charge of assault with a dangerous weapon, but before the examination came off May died, and he was held to answer the charge of manslaughter

Mr Quinn is strongly of the opinion that May would have lived had he received proper surgical treatment. Mr Quinn is an old citizen of this county having resided here off and on for the last 26 years, and his friends will be gratified to know that he has been honorably acquitted of crime at the hands of the U S grand jury, it being clearly a case of justifiable homicide

BOARD OF TRADE.

REGULAR MEETING NOV 15 1876

Last evening a regular monthly meeting of the Board of Trade was held at the room Ankeny s Building

Hon H W Corbett president of the board present and Wm Reid secretary in attendance

Minutes of the last regular meeting read and approved

COMMUNICATIONS

The following communication was read from Col Wilson

U S ENGINEER OFFICE
PORTLAND OR Nov 13 1876

I have the honor to transmit herewith for the use of the Board of Trade a copy of a chart made under my direction during the summer of 1876 of the bar at the mouth of the Columbia river Oregon I am sir very respectfully your obedient servant

JOHN M WILSON

On motion the thanks of the board were returned Col Wilson for the proffered courtesy

The following letter was also read from Col Wilson which on motion was placed on the

U S ENGINEER OFFICE
PORTLAND Ogn Oct 20 1876

In accordance with your request I have been in correspondence with parties who manufacture dredges and have now in my office very full information in reference to the Osgood dipper dredge manufactured at Troy N Y

From all the facts before me I think a first class powerful dipper dredge capable of excavating to a depth of 24 feet and removing from six to eight hundred yards per day of eight hours could be ready for work here with scows etc complete for $50 000 currency or about $52 000 coin Such a dredge with a tug and tender would cost here to run it about $1 800 per month while operating and should it average 600 yards per day would remove 15 000 yards per month at a cost of 10 cents per yard while so engaged repairs insurance wear and tear of machinery watchman while not at work etc would amount annually probably to ten per cent of the original cost.

A large item of first cost which I have counted in is the freight The weight of the machinery will be about fifty tons, and the cost of shipment from Troy N Y via railroad to San Francisco and thence to Portland Oregon would be about $5 500 I am sir very respectfully your obedient servant

SIGNAL STATION

The following letter was received from Mr. A C Kinney, which was read and ordered to the files

ASTORIA Nov 15 1876

I have to report that under my instructions I have complete I the signal staff at Point Adams Light House and have furnished the keeper there with a full set of flags of the International code system for signalling vessels The cost for the flagstaff was $125 for the colors $100 This was rather more than I expected, but I concluded it would be best to erect the staff 110 feet high in order to have a good background and have the colors of the largest size—6 by 8 feet The extra $25 used more than the appropriation I donate myself I have drawn on you already for the $125 and will draw on you in a day or two for the $75 It is a pity not to have telegraphic communication between the signal station and Astoria now that it would cost so little Yours, etc AUG C KINNEY

A letter was read from Mr George W Weller, to the effect that he had paid in behalf of the O S S Co the sum of $53 25 for superintending St Helens bar lights one half of which sum was payable by the Board of Trade, as per agreement. On motion the amount due by the Board was ordered paid

REPORTS

Mr J B Montgomery chairman of the committee on Columbia river bar, presented a report which was adopted

From the report it appears that Mr Montgomery, the chairman went specially to Salem and had interviews with the committee on commerce, in the Senate in relation to the pilotage and towage bill, who had charge of the bill, explaining its importance and urging its passage without delay Telegrams were also sent by Hon H W Corbett, president and Mr Reid secretary of the board to the senators and representatives from this county urging vigorous action in the premises and asking these members to secure the earliest passage of the bill through both branches of the legislature However after the bill had passed the Senate and House it failed to become a law, owing to the adjournment of the legislature before the speaker of the House had time to sign it While it was a subject of regret that the bill failed to become a law, the chairman of the committee and the President and Secretary of the board can not in any manner be held responsible for its failure. These gentlemen had done every thing possible to secure the passage of the bill the report was adopted

RESOLUTIONS

Mr Montgomery offered the following resolution which was adopted

Resolved That the Board pay the sum of $40 being the balance due for drafting the pilotage and towage bill

Capt Ankeny presented the following resolution which was adopted

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Board address a letter to the Senators and Representatives in Congress and urge upon them joint effort with the Department of the Coast Survey at Washington to have a vessel and party of surveyors detailed to the mouth of the Columbia river for the purpose of taking soundings of the depth of the water for a radius of thirty miles beyond the bar and to have a chart of the same properly prepared for the use of the merchant marine

Resolved That the Secretary in his letter explain the purport and object of this resolution at length in said letter

Mr Corbett offered the following resolution which was adopted

Resolved, That in view of the importance to this city of the river improvements projected for the Lower Willamette and Columbia rivers and the deep interest which Col Wilson has taken in same this board respectfully ask that officer to favor the board by addressing them upon a day to be named by him 1st planning (1) the present state of these rivers (2) his proposed improvements thereupon and the cost thereof and (3) the effect and permanency of such improvements when made and that the secretary be authorized to give notice of such meeting, through the press and to invite the various business men of Portland to attend, whether members of the board or not

On motion the board adjourned

THE TROUBLES OF SHIP MASTERS.

PORTLAND Nov 15, 1876

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

I wish to say a few words in regard to the evils an Ashtabula complains of in an article written no doubt by a British shipmaster, and published in the OREGONIAN on the 14th instant

The act of Congress commonly known as the Shipping Commissioners act provides remedies for most of the abuses mentioned in said article How whether the laws is applicable in all its parts to sail but seamen of American vessels is a question upon which authorities differ but with a desire to administer the law for the benefit of shipping interests and to correct the abuses in regard to seamen in port the proper officer of this port took the ground that the jurisdiction of the law extended over all seamen on any foreign going vessel in any of the waters of the United States both for their discipline and protection which view was sustained by several decisions in the U S district court in cases bearing upon the subject but our efforts in this behalf were frustrated by the action of the British Vice Consul here who contested our right to certain parties who over seamen of British vessels and who finally obtained a verbal opinion from the U S circuit judge to the effect that the shipment and discharge of seamen of foreign vessels on this port did not belong to the U S Shipping Commissioner Therefore no further attempt was made by the undersigned to exercise jurisdiction over foreign seamen at this port

Still as I understand it the courts are open for the correction of the abuses complained of and foreign shipmasters can have redress for their grievances by applying to the proper officers Very respectfully H I HOYT,
U S Shipping Commissioner

NOTICE FROM CAPT PATTERSON.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

I notice in your issue of the 15th inst an account of the loss of the brig Perpetua The narrative states that the persons on the raft saw the barkentine Tam O Shanter and that she took no notice of them The Tam O Shanter left San Francisco on the eve of the 24th of October and the Perpetua left Coos bay on the 3d of October On the day they report seeing the barkentine she was in latitude 39 21 longitude 124 10—at least 200 miles from the scene of the wreck I am not a man to run away from a wreck, and his position on that day renders it impossible for the vessel seen to have been the barkentine Yours

THURSDAY MORNING, NOV. 16, 1876.

THE "AGER."

Once upon an evening bleary,
While I sat me dreamy, dreary,
In the sunshine, thinking over
Things that passed in days of yore;
While I nodded nearly sleeping,
Gently eased something creeping
Up my back, like water leaping—
Leaping upward from the floor;
"'Tis a cooling breeze," I muttered,
"From the regions 'neath the floor—
Only this and nothing more!"

Ah! distinctly I remember—
It was in "at we," September,
When the earth and every member
Of creation that it bore
Had for days and weeks been soaking
In the meanest, most provoking
Foggy rains that, without joking,
We had ever seen before.
So I knew it must be very
Cold and damp beneath the floor—
Very cold beneath the floor!

So I sat me nearly napping
In the sunshine, stretching, gaping,
Craving water, undelighted
With the breeze from 'neath the floor;
Till I found me waxing colder
And the stretching growing bolder,
And — if a feeling older—
Older than I'd felt before;
Felt as though that my joints were stiffer
Than they were in days of yore—
Stiffer than they'd been before!

All — [illegible] my back the creeping
Gave place to rushing, leaping,
As if round [illegible] demons
Had [illegible]uded to explore
All the [illegible] the varmints!
I [illegible]ves and my nether garments,
Up [illegible] my hair and downward
Through my boots into the floor,
Then I stood myself a-shaking,
First, but more and more—
More and more.

Then "ague" and it shook me
All my every clothes and knock me
Slap to the kitchen door;
Where there was warmth in store;
Till the flames clattered,
Till the tea was spatter-d,
And with all my warming,
I was chilled than before;
Till it had exhausted
All the powers to shake me more—
Till I could not shake me more.

Till the morrow,
Till, what all the horror
Of the morrow borrow,
As before;
Till another day in "ague-ber—
Till another day in "ague-ber—
Till I was so sore!
Till my every joint, and shaking
Like a [illegible]
We had ever seen before.
So I knew it must be very
Cold and damp beneath the floor—
Very cold beneath the floor!

So I sat me nearly napping
In the sunshine, stretching, gaping,

[illegible] ELECTION.

[illegible] the whole Democratic [illegible] the exception of G. D. [illegible]

[illegible] in Columbia county [illegible] Dayton received 418 votes [illegible] for county [illegible]

The county gave Judson, Dem., [illegible] gross 152, majority over [illegible] for prosecuting attorney, Anders, Rep., and [illegible] cratic county ticket.

[illegible] S. Miller was elected probate judge; Jas. Sea[illegible] treasurer; R. E. [illegible] of Angel[illegible]; H. L. Tib[illegible], D. F. Gooch, Wm. [illegible], commissioners.

[illegible] W. T. gave Judson [illegible]ty; Caton, for prose[illegible]ty Atty, and Ping, Dem., [illegible] 66 majority. The [illegible]ff, two members of [illegible]ners, probate [illegible] Pool superintendent, [illegible]ber of the [illegible]ner, treasurer, [illegible]

Of [illegible] Whitman county, [illegible]th, 1 P. M., says that [illegible] and Anders 31 ma[illegible]tative had 11 [illegible] had 29 [illegible] letter, re[illegible]ounds were received [illegible]. Two more pre[illegible]. The writer says [illegible] will both have about [illegible] votes in that county.

[illegible] as a list of the [illegible] Washington county:

[illegible] J. P. Judson, by 28 ma[illegible]; [illegible] N. H. Bloom[illegible]; joint councilman, Lewis [illegible]; joint representative, [illegible]ty; county commissioners, [illegible]vent, and —— Winters; [illegible] B. Roberts; treasurer, [illegible]; sheriff, Frederick Strong; [illegible]; school superintendent, [illegible] Graham. Against State [illegible]ghly.

[illegible] says: Among those re[illegible] last week, were the au[illegible]urer of King county, [illegible] and sheriff of Pierce [illegible] and auditor of [illegible] for aught we know, [illegible] and sheriff in nearly [illegible] in the Territory. The [illegible] the third each of the [illegible] of Pierce county, the [illegible] and sheriff of Thur[illegible]where between the fifth [illegible] sheriff of King county.

[illegible] & STEVENS'S VOTE.

[illegible] Gluley to Samuel J. [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] voting here for 37 [illegible] politicians for more than [illegible] to God for my since[illegible] public award for a witness that [illegible] I have en[illegible]ly thought and [illegible] "ons decided by legal [illegible]. I have not [illegible] to bargain pro[illegible]ions, but [illegible]h by my works. [illegible] with you? You hold a most [illegible] influential position in the [illegible] party. You could make [illegible] lead with polling less [illegible] you would. In our late consti[illegible] tried to effect some fresh [illegible] on frauds; did you? The [illegible] labored to effect in this di[illegible] try to have ratified by the peo[illegible] election; will you? [illegible] you cannot escape responsi[illegible] with the guilty Macbeth, [illegible] not say I did it; never shake [illegible] at me!

[illegible] a passive accomplice in [illegible]ets of last November. Your [illegible]d without public protest on [illegible] crimes sowed broadcast over [illegible] and the manifest intent was to [illegible] doubly sure that the frauds [illegible] could not be overborne by the [illegible] of the rural districts. And you, [illegible] by silence, but by positive assump[illegible] have covered those frauds with the man[illegible] of authority. On the principle [illegible] the silver is as bad as the thief, you [illegible] implicated in them to-day as [illegible] name were Tweed, O'Brien, or [illegible]

[illegible], Mr. Tilden, I call on you to put [illegible] to this business. You have but to walk [illegible] the sheriffs, the mayor's and the auditor's offices in the City Hall Park and say [illegible] must be no more of it—say it so that [illegible] shall be no doubt what you mean it—and we shall have a tolerably fair election more. Probably a good part of the Fifty [illegible] and supplied last fall with bogus natu[illegible]tion certificates will offer to register and [illegible] vote some of them pretending not to [illegible] that they are no more citizens of the [illegible] States than the King of Dahomey is—but very few will vote repeatedly unless paid [illegible]; and we shall not be cheated more than Tom Thacher did if you simply tell the boys [illegible] that there must be no more Illegal [illegible] and paid for."

Mr. Tilden did not take the advice of Mr. [illegible] as the election of 1876 witnesses.

An old Irishman was enquiring of a policeman if he knew anything of his son Pete. [illegible] replied that there was a young [illegible] in the lockup, for breaking up a [illegible] with an axe handle. "Dat's [illegible]," said the overjoyed parent, "He [illegible] he was given to [illegible]."

Local monetary matters are quiet, and though the usual rates for loans and discounts are maintained both at the banks and on the streets, there is reported a slight diminution of the call for accommodation, owing more to the fact that the amount required for carrying forward improvements such as build ngs, etc., is not so extensive as a few weeks ago, though there is still a good demand for trade purposes and a fair volume of business is being done by the moneyed institutions. There are no important changes reported, silver is appreciating very slowly and without some contingency now unforeseen, is not likely to be much higher.

The Gold Hill (Nev.) News says: As to the future outlooks for dividends from the bonanza, an arrangement has been made whereby the two great mines will hereafter be regulated to yield 550 tons each grade. Ore of equal grade can be taken out of both, which will give a monthly yield of $1,500,000 from each mine, and which can easily be increased to $2,000,000 each if desired, thus giving a larger yield than ever yet attained from the bonanza. More mills are being put to work on Justice ore and the yield from that mine will be from $175,000 to $180,000 for the present month.

A Vienna correspondent supplies the following information relative to German currency movements: At the end of August the old silver coins withdrawn amounted to 561,411,210 marks, the old copper coins to 2,950,783 marks. On the 30th of September the returns of all the nineteen German note banks were as follows: Coin and bullion, 706,368,000 marks (decrease 21,398,000 against the foregoing week); discounts, 686,913,000 marks (increase 13,885,000 marks); circulation of notes, 892,675,000 (increase 8,072,000 marks). The total of new German money coined up to September 23, 1876, amounted to:

	Marks
In gold	1,421,709,820
In silver	312,193,337
In nickle	22,845,841
In copper	9,133,969

Elisur Wright, who has earned some reputation as a financier in this country, has a new project on foot in Massachusetts, of which the Boston Globe contains some particulars. It says:

Books are now open for subscriptions to the stock of Mr. Elisur Wright's projected "Massachusetts Family Bank." The capital stock is to consist of $500,000, in shares of $50 each, and it is the intention and hope to have it owned by the people and widely distributed. The object of the institution is to combine the functions of a savings bank and a life insurance company, affording depositors the opportunity of securing by small deposits an effective life insurance and obtaining moderate loans thereon. Policies can be surrendered at any time on an equitable adjustment of rights.

The plan above detailed, if honestly and faithfully carried out, would probably be found to [illegible] some advantages over the usual policy of savings banks, but in order to gain the public confidence, very strong legal guards would have to be placed around the rights of shareholders.

Farm Products of the United States.

An Eastern exchange collates the following:

Iowa produces the largest spring wheat crop of any State, the production of the United States being 112,549,538 bushels, and that of Iowa 28,706,312 bushels, while Wisconsin ranks next, with 24,375,455 bushels. Ohio raises the most winter wheat, 27,925,759 of the 175,295,103 bushels in the United States. Pennsylvania supplies one-fifth of the rye produced in this country, or 3,371,641 bushels out of 16,918,795. Illinois grows a larger quantity of corn than any other State, or 129,921,395 of the 760,944,249 the country produces. Illinois also takes the lead in the oat crop, growing 43,789,844 out of the total 282,107,157 bushels. California produces the largest barley crop, or 8,783,439 out of a total of 29,761,826 bushels. New York is the largest cultivator of buckwheat, raising 3,901,630 of a total of 9,821,721 bushels. Ohio produces more than half the flax of the United States. Kentucky grows more than half the hemp crop of our country. California produces nine-tenths of our native silk cocoons. Ohio contributes one-fifth of all the wool produced in the United States, or twice as much as Pennsylvania, which furnishes the next largest figures in that line. New York furnishes more than two thirds of the hog crop of the country.

Oregon is not found in the above yet, but the advantages which she possesses for the production of many of the articles, will, with the advent of immigration and the establishment of better transportation facilities, place her among the foremost States in at least wheat, wool, oats and fruit. Her surplus of these and minor products this year will reach eight million dollars. Her wheat product is already quite equal to that of the foremost according to population.

A case of chronic rheumatism of unusual severity, cured by Johnson's Anodyne Liniment is noticed by one of our exchanges. A large bunch came out upon the breast of the sufferer, and appeared like part of the breast bone. Used internally and externally.

The sweetest word in our language is health. At the first indication of disease, use well known and approved remedies. For dyspepsia or indigestion, use Parson's Purgative Pills. For coughs, colds sore or lame stomach, use Johnson's Anodyne Liniment.

OBJECTS.

This Savings Bank has been formed at the desire and under the auspices of thirty-one gentlemen, citizens of Oregon and Washington Territory who have become Stockholders therein to supply a want hitherto much felt, namely an institution where similar to those in California, the working, farming and other classes of Oregon and Washington Territory may from time to time deposit their various savings along with the Bank's own capital for investment in Oregon and Washington Territories (to which the Bank's operations are limited) secured from Mortgages over City Properties, Farming and other Lands for the purpose thereby of assisting to develop the industries of the North Pacific Coast.

The Bank's Directors and Officers in Oregon having had considerable experience in finance and real estate securities, their policy will be to grant deposits on mortgage and the stockholders' capital by loaning only on first class securities, high interest being a secondary consideration. The Bank does not therefore seek to employ its funds in a commercial banking business, confining its operations strictly to those securities with which its Directors are familiarly acquainted, such as real estate loans, advances on bonds, assignments and similar securities which are not fluctuating in value; hence no loans will be made on Promissory Notes alone, or Bills of Exchange and such like.

Security to Depositors.

The security for repayment of Depositors' moneys is two-fold:

1st. Not only the mortgages, assignments, bonds and other pledges on which the Bank's deposits are carefully loaned and the real estate secured thereby, which must be located in Oregon and Washington Territory; but also,

2d. The Bank's own $300,000 capital specially pledged for the safety of depositors, in order that all losses (if any) shall be made therefrom, thus forming a double security for depositors' moneys.

No charge for entrance fee or pass books.
Deposits received from $2 50 and upwards.
Rates of interest on application.
Hours, from 9 A. M to 3 P. M.
Certificate of Incorporation, Constitution, Articles of Association, Regulations and By laws for deposition, may be seen at the Bank's office.

By order of Directors.
